

Membership 2025

Purpose

The purpose of the TV Industry Human Rights Forum (TVIHRF) is to understand how the TV industry impacts on human rights and to create positive change by proactively addressing human rights issues in the operations of the member companies and wider TV industry.

The emphasis of this group is on members' own operations and supply chains rather than on TV coverage of human rights. Within this, the Forum will prioritise the most vulnerable and those most at risk.

The Forum achieves its purpose by:

- 1) Sharing information, processes, approaches and challenges
- 2) Commissioning research into human rights risks in aspects of TV production
- 3) Developing tools and guidance to promote good practice
- 4) Seeking opportunities to maximise impact through collaboration
- 5) Communicating to the wider industry the importance of respecting and protecting human rights
- 6) Seeking out cross-sector collaboration opportunities

There are three ways that organisations can engage with the TV Industry Human Rights Forum:

1. Full members
2. Associate members
3. Non-members

What the members say

"Membership in the TVIHR Forum has enabled BBC Studios to support and engage in work that provides valuable insight into the human rights risks linked to television production. The Forum offers a collaborative and positive space where we can work alongside our industry colleagues to understand and address these risks in a way that will influence the industry as a whole and establish future ways of working. I continue to be impressed by the quality and scope of the work delivered by the Forum under the stewardship of Amelia Knott and am excited by what the future holds for the group. And finally, as a participant in a number of different membership organisations, I can attest to the unmatched value for money and genuine benefit that membership in the TVIHR Forum provides to our business." Claire Brown, Ethical Trading Manager, BBC Studios

Plans for 2025

Two main in-person Forum events

The Forum events are open widely to those working in the industry and are an opportunity to explore topics in depth, share insights and develop industry-relevant outputs. In 2025, we aim to cover the following topics:

- The evolving legislative environment, especially the Corporate Sustainability Due Diligence Directive (CSDDD)
- Ethical dilemmas and decision-making

Members can propose topics and suggest or provide speakers to Forum events

Embed findings from two major research projects

- Human rights risks in post production
- Working conditions for cleaners, caterers, security guards and drivers to TV productions in the UK

Deliver regular opportunities to engage with outputs and issues

- A quarterly training webinar on human rights and TV production: the basics
- A monthly newsletter to keep stakeholders up to date on the Forum's work
- Short reads that summarise topics of interest or recent insights
- Online events to discuss a range of relevant topics

Work towards changing industry practices

- Collaborate with industry partners to amplify their work and ours
- Support members to embed and use tools and resources
- Support members to measure their own progress
- Measure the overall impact of the Forum's work

What the members say

"As founding members of the TV Industry Human Rights Forum, our participation has helped Sky identify and build understanding throughout our production teams of the potential human rights and modern slavery risks within production supply chains. Conducting research collaboratively has been an effective use of resources and we see the role of TVIHRF growing in importance for us with the ever evolving regulatory requirements on human rights due diligence." Charlotte Brierley, Senior responsible business manager – human rights and reporting, Sky

- Considerations for TV productions of country-level human rights contexts
- Worker engagement and worker voice
- Meaningful stakeholder engagement
- Inclusive security practices
- Working through intermediaries, local producers and 'fixers'
- Response and remedy for human rights incidents
- Implementing mandatory human rights due diligence
- Measuring organisational progress on respecting human rights
